Purpose
The golden rule of supply chain ethics is ultimately ‘know your suppliers’. The Park Place Technologies supply chain needs to enhance our reputation and not risk damaging it. Be diligent about knowing who our upstream suppliers are through knowing and understanding where the parts are from and how they have been refurbished.

Policy
The California Transparency in Supply Chains Act of 2010 and the United Kingdom Modern Slavery Act of 2015 require certain businesses to provide disclosure concerning their efforts, if any, to address the issues of slavery and human trafficking in their supply chains. The disclosures are intended to provide consumers the ability to make better, more informed choices about the products and services they buy and the companies they support.

In addition, the United States Federal Government has adopted a zero-tolerance policy regarding trafficking in persons. As a federal contractor, Park Place Technologies and its employees are prohibited from:

A. Engaging in any forms of trafficking in persons.
B. Procuring commercial sex acts; or using forced labor in the performance of any contract.
C. Using child labor (child: anyone under the age of sixteen unless local law states otherwise) in the performance of any contract.
D. Destroying, concealing, confiscating, or otherwise denying access by an employee to the employee’s identity or immigration documents, such as passports or drivers' licenses, regardless of issuing authority.
E. Using misleading or fraudulent practices during the recruitment of employees or offering of employment, such as failing to disclose, in a format and language accessible to the worker, basic information or making material misrepresentations during the recruitment of employees regarding the key terms and conditions of employment.

F. If required by law or contract, failing to provide an employment contract, recruitment agreement, or other required work document in writing. Such written work document shall be in a language the employee understands.

All employees and suppliers who work or may work on service or other contracts on behalf of Park Place Technologies must comply with this policy. Violation of this policy may subject an employee or supplier to actions that include, but are not limited to, removal from a particular role, reduction in benefits, termination, and/or disciplinary action in accordance with the Park Place Technologies Employee Handbook or contract, as applicable.

  - Any scheme, plan, or pattern intended to cause a person to believe that failure to perform an act would result in serious harm to or physical restraint against any person; or
  - The abuse or threatened abuse of the legal process.

- Commercial Sex Act – Any sex act on account of which anything of value is given to or received by any person.

- Debt Bondage – The status or condition of a debtor arising from a pledge by the debtor of his or her personal services or of those of a person under his or her control as a security for debt, if the value of those services as reasonably assessed is not applied toward the liquidation of the debt or the length and nature of those services are not respectively limited and defined.

- Forced Labor/Labor Trafficking – Means knowingly providing or obtaining the labor or services of a person:
  - By threats of serious harm to, or physical restraint against, that person or another person.

What Due Diligence Is Required?

Park Place will verify the qualifications, background and references of all the business partners, agents, representatives, suppliers, or consultants with which Park Place intends to engage or establish a binding business relationship. The Legal Department and senior management shall provide guidance on the level of due diligence required for a particular business arrangement. All required due diligence must be conducted prior to entering into any contractual or binding agreement.

Pay Attention to Red Flags

Employees therefore must be alert to potential “red flags” in transactions with supply chain. This means that you should pay particular attention to unusual or suspicious circumstances that may indicate possible legal or ethics concerns. These are commonly referred to as “red flags.” “Red flags” are circumstances that may suggest refurbished parts have been procured unethically and the prices are low because the workers have not been paid a minimum wage for their work. The presence of red flags in a relationship or transaction requires greater scrutiny and implementation of safeguards to prevent and detect improper conduct. Ignoring these circumstances is not appropriate. If something does not seem right, you should seek further guidance from the Legal Department.

“Willful ignorance” is not a defense. “Willful ignorance” includes not making reasonable inquiry when there are suspicious circumstances. It also does not matter whether the agent or intermediary is itself subject to the California Transparency in Supply Chains Act of 2010, UK Modern Slavery Act of 2015, or other anti-slavery laws.

NO DEFENSE

“Willful ignorance” is not a defense. “Willful ignorance” includes not making reasonable inquiry when there are suspicious circumstances. It also does not matter whether the agent or intermediary is itself subject to the FCPA, the UK Bribery Act or other Anti-Corruption or Anti-Bribery Laws.
What Are My Reporting Obligations?
Any employee who has reason to believe that a violation of this Policy has occurred, or may occur, must promptly report this information to his or her supervisor, any member of management or the Legal Department, or by contacting the Park Place Hotline. Specifically, information may be reported in confidence by calling the Park Place General Counsel at (001) 440-947-0213. Retaliation in any form against an employee who has, in good faith, reported a violation or possible violation of this Policy is strictly prohibited. What Are the Consequences of Violations?
Violations of this Policy will result in corrective action that may include, but is not limited to, verbal or written warnings, suspension from work, or other disciplinary action up to and including employment termination. Verbal or written corrective action is intended to eliminate inappropriate workplace conduct of a more minor nature. Immediate termination without use of progressive discipline may be appropriate for serious incidents.
